Modular system

The SNAKE modular system is customizable and has a great number of units. The upholstered benches come various lengths, optionally with armrests and backrests, and can be provided with small tables, power points, and accessories such as magazine racks, plant stands and coat-stands.

Dividing partitions are also available to be fitted to the seats as backrests or to be used individually to create more areas with personal privacy. The different modules can be built upwards or intersected in single, straight or corner solutions to meet the stylistic and space requirements of the environment.

Modular system

A modular system with minimal lines, ideal for functional waiting rooms, consisting of two, three and four-seater seater benches with HPL seat, and black or white lacquered metal frame, with adjustable feet. They can be upgraded with accessories that add colour and comfort such as upholstered seats, backs and arms, power points, computer accessory table, round table also suitable as a corner for L-shaped configurations, and even coat-stands, racks and suspended feature shelving. The family also includes three different sizes of upholstered screen to be used either stand-alone or fixed to the frame to divide up spaces. A 70 cm high version of the bench is also available and is suitable as a support surface or as an informal seat, and there is also a 101 cm high table version: all elements work throughout the system.
